General Convention Digest . . . MIAMI BEACH, 1958

The 59th General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U.S.A., meeting in Miami Beach, Fla., October 5 to 17, 1958, took this action:

PRESIDING BISHOP

- Elected the Rt. Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger as Presiding Bishop, succeeding the Most Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill. Bishop Lichtenberger, who was born January 8, 1900, in Oshkosh, Wis., will serve until November 15 of the Convention year following his attainment of the retirement age of 68 - i.e., 1970. Having been a bishop for only seven years, he is one of the junior members of the House of Bishops. A graduate of Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., he has served as professor of pastoral theology at General Theological Seminary as well as overseas missionary, parish priest, and dean of a cathedral. He is married and has one son.

Though in retirement, Bishop Sherrill, aged 68, remains active as one of the presidents of the World Council of Churches and a member of many important boards and committees.

Bishop Lichtenberger's resignation as Bishop of Missouri takes effect May 15, 1959. As Presiding Bishop he has no diocese but retains "ordinary" jurisdiction over the American churches in Europe and any vacant missionary districts. He will be presiding officer of the House of Bishops, the chief consecrator of all new bishops (except when he delegates the task to another bishop), the president and chief executive officer of the National Council, a body charged with conducting the national missionary, educational, and social work of the Church, and the Church's chief representative and spokesman on the national scene. He has no direct authority over any other bishop, nor in any diocese. The Washington Cathedral provides the Presiding Bishop with an honorary seat in which he was to be installed on January 14, 1959

- Increased the Presiding Bishop's salary from $15,000 to $22,500 per year, plus allowances.

CHURCH'S PROGRAM

- Adopted a budget for the missionary, educational, and social work of the Church conducted by the National Council of $8,060,300 in 1959, $8,496,400 in 1960, and $8,819,800 in 1961. The first year represents an increase of approximately $1,000,000 over the current year's operations, but a decrease of $1,000,000 from the sum requested by the National Council for each of the three years. As adopted, the program for the third year, 1961, is within $263,763 of the sum requested by the National Council.
- In addition to the above, the budget as adopted includes $500,000 for 1960 and $1,000,000 for 1961 to meet the National Council's capital needs, making the 1960 total $8,996,400 and the 1961 total $9,819,800. This amount, $1,500,000, is to be raised mostly from the regular pledges of Churchpeople in their parishes and replaces a capital budget of $6,600,000 intended to be raised by a special campaign. In sum, the Convention cut the National Council's proposed three-year program by almost $7,000,000, but increased the program from the 1958 level by about $5,700,000, for the three-year period, including capital funds. The increase amounts to a little less than a dollar a year, or two cents a week, per communicant.

In other action recommended by the Program and Budget Committee, the Convention:

- Instructed the National Council to protect missionary salaries and travel items in any budget-cutting that might be made necessary by failure to raise the full amount needed to execute the budget. An amendment urged the Council to consider raising the salaries of native clergy who receive about 1/4 the salaries of American missionaries.
- Provided for a "Church Magazine Advisory Board" of nine members appointed by the Presiding Bishop, to make plans for a "Church magazine to serve the interests of all the people of our Church," with appropriation for exploratory and experimental purposes of $31,000 for 1959, $46,800 for 1960, and $54,800 for 1961. Wording which handed over all the assets of the existing National Council magazine Forth to this board was changed to give it "access" to the mailing lists, etc., of that magazine.

- Called upon Churchpeople to practice tithing "as a basic Christian responsibility and privilege." (The House of Bishops, by a unanimous resolution, pledged its members to tithe.)
- Commended to parish vestries the goal of giving one-half of ordinary parochial income to work outside the parish.

The Convention also:

- Requested the National Council, in preparing its budget for the next Convention to consider removing income from trust funds ($550,000 in 1958) from the regular budget.
- Elected Lindley M. Franklin, Jr., treasurer of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society (corporate name of the National Council), succeeding H. M. Addinsell. Mr. Franklin is a nephew of Lewis B. Franklin, first treasurer of the Council, who served from 1919 to 1948.
- Called upon the Council to review and re-edit published materials about missions.
- Paid tribute to Mr. Addinsell for his seven years of able service, without pay, as treasurer.
- Instructed the Council to appoint a committee to survey overseas missionary work. (This was the disposition of a request from the conventions of Chicago and Virginia asking General Convention itself to appoint such a committee.)
- Elected the following as National Council members:
- Bishops Bayne of Olympia and Wright of East Carolina; the Ven. David R. Thornberry of Southern Ohio, the Rev. Canon Donald H. Wattley of Louisiana, Dr. Richard G. Stone of North Carolina, Howard T. Tellepsen of Texas, Franklin B. Miles of Northern Indiana, and Harrison Garrett of Maryland, for six year terms; and Ernest W. Greene of Washington for the remaining three years of an unexpired term.

EPISCOPATE

In actions marking milestones in the Church's program, Convention:

- Admitted two former missionary districts as new dioceses, with their former missionary bishops as diocesans: Arizona, with Bishop A. B. Kinsolving; and Northwest Texas (formerly North Texas), with Bishop Quarterman. Full delegations of clerical and lay deputies from the two dioceses took their seats in the House of Deputies with applause.
- Elected the Rev. Benito Cabanban as the first native bishop of the Episcopal Church in the Philippines. He will be suffragan to Bishop Ogilby.
- Elected the Rev. Edmund K. Sherrill to succeed Bishop Melcher as Bishop of Central Brazil. The House of Bishops elects missionary bishops and, when General Convention is in session, the House of Deputies confirms the election in place of confirmation by the standing committees of the dioceses. Since both bishops-elect were present in Miami Beach, their acceptance was announced and the elections were completed.
- Gave permission to the diocese of Missouri to elect a bishop coadjutor. (A diocese which wishes to elect a coadjutor for other reasons than age or infirmity of the diocesan must get the permission of the rest of the Church. In this case the reason was that the diocesan would have to resign his see within six months after assuming the office of Presiding Bishop.)
- Gave permission to the dioceses of Albany and California to elect suffragan bishops.
- Added the new missionary district of Central America to the Second Province, together with the Dominican Republic. Added Mexico to the Seventh Province, all by amendments to Canon 8.

UNITY AND REUNION

- Adopted resolutions establishing closer relationships with the Church of South India:

Recognizing the orders of episcopally ordained South Indian clergy.

Permitting South Indian clergy so ordained to celebrate Holy Communion, preach, and assist in Episcopal Church services according to their order when visiting the United States, provided that they do not celebrate in non-episcopal Churches during their stay in the diocese or district.

Authorizing the celebration of the South India Liturgy in an Episcopal church by a South Indian presbyter for the local congregation.

Permitting priests of the Episcopal Church to celebrate Holy Communion in the Church of South India when visiting there.

Permitting episcopally confirmed members of the Church of South India to receive Communion in Episcopal churches and communicants of the Episcopal Church to receive Communion from episcopally ordained presbyters in the Church of South India.

The resolutions were preceded by a preamble regretting certain "anomalies" in the present differences between the two Churches. Amendments made by the Convention to the proposals of the Ecumenical Commission included the deletion of a procedure for permitting South India presbyters to take charge of Episcopal Church congregations "for a stated period"; the deletion of permission to C.S.I. presbyters to celebrate in non-Episcopal Churches on occasions of "major ecumenical significance"; addition of the word "episcopally" before "ordained" in a reference to clergy ordained in the Church of South India; and a new requirement that South Indian laity who wish to receive Communion in the Episcopal Church must be episcopally confirmed. General effect of the amendments was to tighten up the maintenance of Episcopal Church regulations in contacts between the two Churches.

The Convention also:

- Voted to "recognize the Catholicity" of the Spanish Reformed Episcopal Church and the Lusitanian (Portuguese) Church and instructed the Commission on Approaches to Unity to develop "terms by which full intercommunion" with these Churches "may ultimately be achieved."
- Designated the first $15,000 of the Good Friday Offering (taken in local Episcopal churches) to the Jerusalem and the East Mission under the Anglican Archbishop in Jerusalem; 15% of the same offering to assistance to Eastern Churches under the supervision of the Joint Commission on Assistance to the Eastern Orthodox Churches; and the balance to work in the Near East in the discretion of the National Council.
- Continued the Commission on Ecumenical Relations, the Commission on Approaches to Unity, and the Commission on Assistance to the Eastern Orthodox Churches, as separate bodies, referring to a Joint Committee on Commissions and Committees the question whether these bodies might better be merged.
- Relieved the Ecumenical Commission of responsibility in the area of Anglican relations in view of the existence of an Advisory Committee to the Presiding Bishop on Anglican Relations.
- Expressed approval of the existence of a National Council Committee on Ecumenical Relations.
- Exchanged fraternal greetings with the Evangelical United Brethren Church and the United Lutheran Church, which were meeting in other cities at the same time as General Convention.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

- Adopted a resolution calling upon Churchmen "by God's grace to cleanse themselves of all spirit of racial discrimination" and upon all persons to work together toward "the establishment without racial discrimination of full opportunities in fields such as education, housing, employment, and public accommodations." This resolution, offered by the Virginia deputation, replaced one adopted by the House of Bishops calling for a society "in which every race will have the freedom to enjoy, without discrimination and without separation, all opportunities in education, housing, employment, public accommodations, and all other aspects of Church and civil life." The Deputies' amended version was accepted by the House of Bishops.
- Defeated overwhelmingly (House of Deputies: no affirmative dioceses in the clerical order, only seven dioceses in the lay) a resolution asserting that "a sincere belief in some degree of segregation is compatible with a belief in the dignity of all men and their equality in the sight of God."
- Called upon Church members "to face seriously their obligation to conform to Federal and Supreme Court orders in regard to giving to all students equal access to public schools."
- Extended "moral support" to "ministers and lay persons who labor in areas of misunderstandings and tensions."
- Commended the Church in the Province of South Africa for its witness against "apartheid" and encouraged it to resist government oppression of Negroes.
- In the Pastoral Letter the House of Bishops explained that civil disobedience on Christian grounds may be justified in defense of a higher ethical position than that of the government but is not justified in defense of a lower ethical position.
- A sweeping program of alcohol education contained in the report of the Joint Commission to Study the Problems of Alcoholism was adopted by inference in resolutions accepting the Commission report and instructing the appropriate Departments of the National Council to implement it. Tasks were assigned to the Council, theological seminaries, schools and colleges, diocesan organizations, parish churches, and the Woman's Auxiliary. A pamphlet prepared by the Commission, with the title Alcohol, Alcoholism, and Social Drinking, came in for much favorable attention and press comment, although it was not formally presented for Convention approval. The Commission, with the new name of "Joint Commission on Society and Alcohol," was continued.

In other action on public affairs the Convention:

- Reaffirmed Resolution No. 106 of the Lambeth Conference calling for the abolition of war and of nuclear bombs and "other weapons of similar indiscriminate destructive power" as "an essential step" toward the goal. Progressive reduction of armed forces and conventional armaments was also urged.
- Opposed capital punishment of criminals.
- Endorsed a campaign to raise funds for a nuclear reactor for Church-related St. Paul's University (Rikkyo), Tokyo, Japan, provided opportunity for members of General Convention to contribute to the campaign, and authorized the National Council to arrange business details of the transaction.
- Asked National Council to study problems of American Indians, emphasizing the Church's responsibility to alleviate "social stress and personal distress by providing the Indian with equity of privilege and security of place in the Christian community."

- Discontinued the Joint Commission on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy and turned down (House of Bishops) its request that the Department of Christian Social Relations be asked to study and keep the Church posted on developments in the field.
- Continued the Joint Commission on Social Reconstruction changing its name to "the Church in Human Affairs."
- Responded to a communication from the Convention of Young Churchmen with commendation to the group for its interest in social problems.
- Commended the Department of Christian Social Relations for work begun on a program for the aging but omitted budget funds for the program until 1961.

EDUCATION

- After lively debate, recorded appreciation of the service rendered in the field of education by the National Council's Department of Christian Education and called for continued study and development.
- Endorsed the campaign of the General Theological Seminary for capital funds. Elected new trustees for the seminary, which is an official agency of General Convention.
- Renewed its call for observance of one Sunday in the year as Theological Education Sunday, with an offering to be taken up for the seminary of the parish's choice.
- Asked the National Council's Department of Christian Education to study the question of getting more faculty personnel with graduate degrees in theological seminaries.
- Commended the brochure, "The Faith, the Church, and the University," prepared by the Church Society for College Work and the College Work Division of the National Council.

PRAYER BOOK AND BIBLE

- Gave preliminary approval to a Book of Propers, containing a supplemental calendar and collects, epistles, and gospels for minor holy days, subject to adoption as an "alteration of the Book of Common Prayer" by the next Convention.
- Defeated (House of Bishops) a resolution offered by the House of Deputies for setting up a Commission on the Revision of the Prayer Book based upon a series of Prayer Book Studies undertaken by the Standing Liturgical Commission. The Bishops later appointed a committee of bishops to take account of the deputies' interest and report to the interim meeting of the House.
- Authorized a new edition of the Book of Offices, containing services used on special occasions with the authorization of the bishop.
- Rejected the standing Liturgical Commission proposal that a "trial Prayer Book" be authorized.
- Asked the National Council to make plans and provide helps for due celebration of the 350th anniversary of the King James Version of the Bible in 1961.
- Endorsed the work of the American Bible Society, asking local churches to take up an offering for the society's work on Bible Sunday, Whitsunday, "or some other convenient occasion."

Continued the work of the Forward Movement publications under the supervision of the Presiding Bishop with "such staff and committees as may be required."

THE MINISTRY

- Increased all pensions being paid to retired clergy, widows, and minor orphans by 20%, the cost being borne by continuing a 15% pension assessment on present clergy salaries (originally adopted on a temporary basis to provide reserves for higher minimum pensions). Made the corresponding change in Canon 7, of the Church Pension Fund.
- Increased the retirement allowance for the Presiding Bishop (there are now two) from $5,000 to $6,000. Increased pension guarantee for bishops retiring because of the compulsory retirement canon from $2,500 to $4,000. These pensions are paid from the funds of General Convention to the extent that they are not provided by the regular benefits of the Church Pension Fund. Appropriate amendments were made in canons 2, 41, and 43.
- Declared that there was "no need to change the canonical purpose or rules of the Church Pension Fund" to answer to various requests for changes in policy. In another resolution, approved the "current pension structure."

PETER DAY

The Church's Evolving Architecture

1955–1958

In the second essay on the Church's Evolving Architecture, the Clerical Directory continues its commentary on, and pictorial record of, churches built in the previous triennium. As stated in the 1956 Directory, selections are made on the basis of what the author and others consider to be fair expressions of typical contemporary architecture in the triennium concerned. This article has been approved by the members of the General Convention's Commission on Architecture and the Allied Arts.

The past three years has seen the triumph of the so-called "Contemporary" style of architecture. Only occasional churches are being designed in "traditional" styles such as Gothic, Georgian, or Romanesque. This acceptance has been brought about through the pressure of architects, clergymen, builders, and the high cost of building. It has also been accomplished through the mellowing of current architectural design and by the leadership provided by industry, public school committees, and domestic architecture.

Architectural schools have not been producing traditionally oriented designers for the past twenty years. Consequently as the older men retire, practicing architects, being unused to "traditional" styles, have to go to the copy book if they take a commission so limited. Theological Seminaries, while being able to give little time to architectural considerations, are producing clergymen inspired by a theological and liturgical revival that is entirely sympathetic to the efforts of contemporary architecture. To be honest in the use of materials, to speak to the man of the twentieth century, and to meet his needs with careful economy in the face of the high cost of construction and design, are the common aim of both architect and clergyman. Contractors, artisans, and workmen, in common with architects, are becoming unfamiliar with "traditional" styles, with the result that florid stone-carving and intricate woodwork are almost impossible to secure even if money is in hand.

The initial shock of the break with "traditional" architecture has been softened by time, and the wide use of contemporary forms, by the community around it, has enabled the Church to build buildings without furor which would have been front page news a decade ago. Contemporary design has itself gone through a mellowing process as it has matured, with its "pure" phase of uncompromising functionalism becoming a thing of the past. As happens in the history of all styles, some decorative detail has been re-admitted to the drawing-board, and the architect is making greater provision for the use of painting and sculpture. An historic sense of the link between present and past styles has made its reappearance to help lull the fears of many churchmen who have felt that contemporary architecture was unfitted to house a religion which belongs to all ages.

In addition to these helpful developments, questionable practices are also arising. The Cross is being used more and more as a decoration and even as a window form rather than the Sign of our faith and an object of veneration. The popularity of the picture window and the glass wall in industrial, educational, and domestic architecture, has spread to the Church to the extent that some feel that every Service is made a "field mass." Such a Service may be commendable on occasion but as a regular thing this "overexposure" seems to take mystery and "apartness" away from the beauty of holiness. The influence of the ranch house seems to be having as adverse an effect on the design of some of our contemporary churches as the bungalow did in the earlier part of the century. This domestication of the Church often results in the loss of that impressive scale which should be a part of every parish church, and which depends more upon design than upon size.

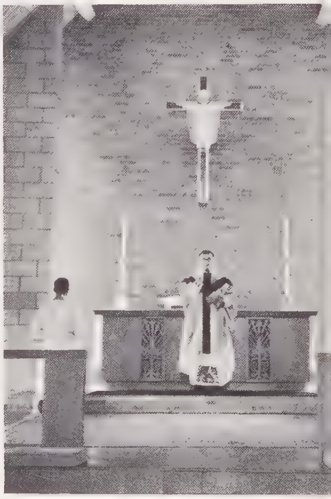
However, to most of us, these past three years have witnessed a refreshing upswing in church design. The great number of churches being built has revived interest in the Church among architectural schools and architects. More talent is being used in her service, more varied solutions are being found to her architectural problems, and her new architectural witness to the Gospel is beginning to be felt across the nation.

Several particular trends are to be noted: The return of the central altar is no longer an isolated phenomenon, the free-standing altar is approaching predominance, the removal of the choir from a position between the altar and the congregation is under way, and lighting is being used with less timidity and with far greater dramatic effect. The Church's increasing patronage of the fine arts is having a salutary effect on both the artist and the Church alike, with the artist being re-exposed to the vast possibilities of Christian subject matter, and the Church being equally enriched. The willingness of many vestries to spend large sums on the architectural requirements of Christian education speaks well for all concerned. The employment of professional fund raisers and fund-raising techniques has educated the many to provide funds no longer easily available from the few. As a result our new churches belong more to the people in this day than they have since Georgian days.

New talent, new materials and new money, together with the revival in liturgics and theology, foretell the possibility of a great age in Church building, if the Collect for the Fifth Sunday after Trinity, which is the date of this essay, is in accordance with the plan of Almighty God.

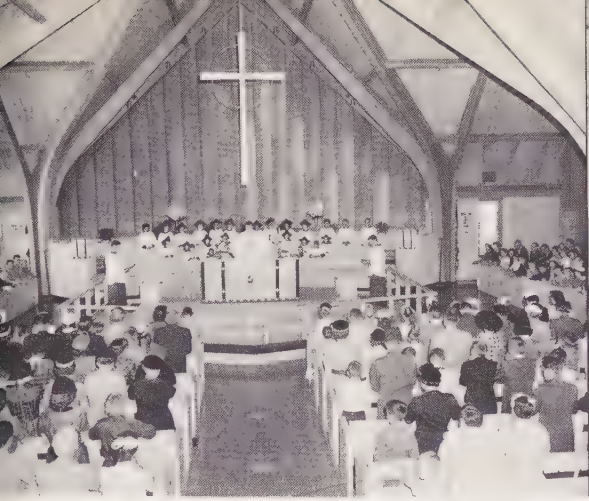
"Grant, O Lord, we beseech thee, that the course of this world may be so peaceably ordered by thy governance, that thy Church may joyfully serve thee in all godly quietness; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

D. W. BETTS



St. Boniface's Church, Lindenhurst, New York. Architect, Watterson and Watson. Vicar, Reverend Edmund W. Olifiers, Jr. Typical of many small churches being built throughout the country, St. Boniface's demonstrates that The Prayer Book and good design when used together can create a most impressive setting in a small space for the meeting of Man and God. This building cost $60,000 and seats 200 people.

St. Peter's Church, Glenside, Pennsylvania. Architect, Roland T. Addis. Rector, Reverend Robert Nelson Bach. "Contemporary Perpendicular" seating 435 people. The use of stone, wood and steel in new ways with great respect for the past and interest in the present is the outstanding feature of this church. The sanctuary is spacious, the choir is over the narthex, the laminated arches provide great openness; all trends of our time in a structure recalling the Gothic.

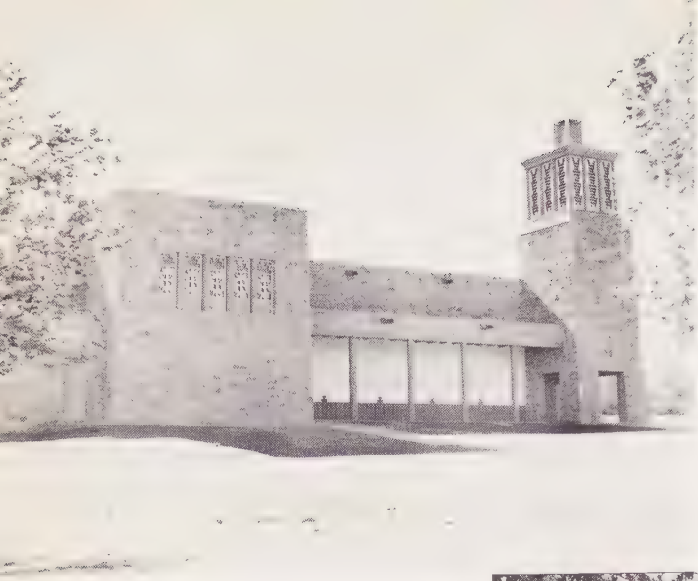


St. Mark's Church, Riverside, Rhode Island. Architect, Robbins and Norton. Rector, Reverend Alexander D. Stewart. One of a growing number of churches using an altar surrounded by the people, St. Mark's represents contemporary materials in construction as well as in liturgical thinking.

St. Michael's-in-the-Hills, Toledo, Ohio. Architect, John M. Richards. Rector, Reverend Timothy Pickering. An outstanding example of a contemporary church that proves that impressive scale is a matter of design rather than size. The free-standing altar has the choir seated behind it which is a feature in many new churches.

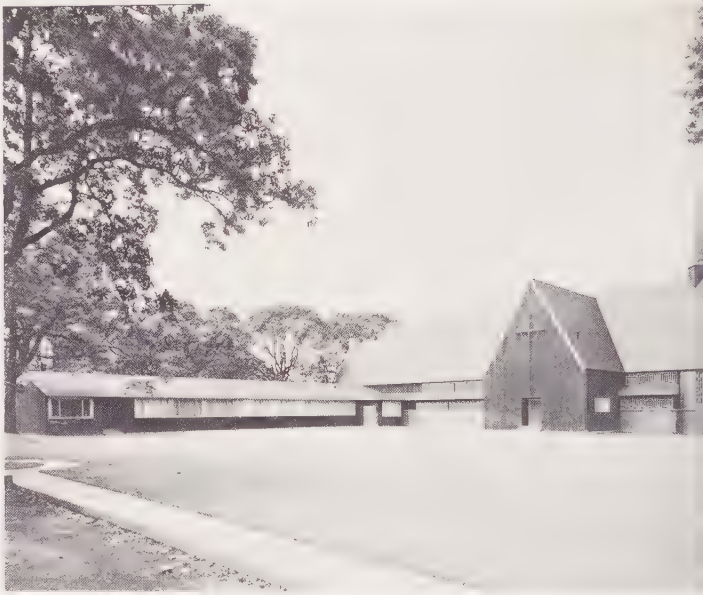
St. Stephen's Church, Westboro, Massachusetts. Architect, Gustav A. Hagen. Vicar, Reverend Dale L. Van Meter. A 300 seat church built at $11.81 per square foot with the great assistance of the volunteer labor of the parishioners. Combining the traditional gable roof with the "Tent" style, this handsome church is in the vanguard of contemporary design. The parish room is under the same roof as the nave at the opposite end from the sanctuary. A spire is to be built on the raised roof of the sanctuary.

St. Paul's Church, Altus, Oklahoma. Designer, Robert Matsushita. Vicar, Reverend Ralph Macy. A small church in flat country making the most of its surroundings, materials, and budget by successfully fitting it to all three. The freestanding altar has matching lecterns on either side of it rather than between chancel and nave



Good Shepherd Mission, Fort Defiance, Arizona. Architect, John Gaw Meem. Vicar, Reverend Davis Given. A domestic example of native artistry used in a mission built for our time. Constructed of local sandstone by Navajo masons, this building also combines the past and present.

St. Paul's Church, Salem, Oregon. Architect, James L. Payne. Rector, Reverend George Herbert Swift. The warmth, color, and atmosphere of this large contemporary church have impressed the thousands who have come to see it. Costing $425,000, and consecrated two years after completion, it is one of the outstanding achievements of a 30 year rectorate.



Chapel of the Holy Spirit, Hokkaido University Center, Sapporo, Japan. Architects, Kichinosuke Tonomura, Tetsuya Miyaji. Chaplain, Reverend William D. Eddy. A fine example of the Church using the folk-arts of the Japanese in a contemporary setting to help students find God in the Japan of 1958.
